

FSLA Essay Competition 2017

The Rules

1. Essays must be submitted by email with "FSLA Competition Essay 2017" in the subject line to fslalondon@gmail.com by midnight GMT on Sunday 6 August 2017.
No entries after this date will be accepted for the competition. The organisers accept no responsibility for delivery or for subsequent safekeeping of any essay entered for the competition.
2. The essay should be attached in pdf format to the email and the attachment should be named as follows: "FSLA Essay Competition 2017".
3. The essay competition is open to anyone who satisfies any one or more of the following criteria when they submit their essay:
  - a. a person who is studying as an undergraduate or postgraduate student in any legal discipline registered with a UK educational institution;
  - b. a person who is undertaking the Legal Practice Course or Bar Professional Training Course in England & Wales;
  - c. a person who is undertaking a training contract, as defined in the Solicitors Regulation Authority Training Regulations 2014; or
  - d. a person who is undertaking pupillage, as defined in the Bar Training Regulations of the Bar Standards Board.
4. Only one entry per person will be allowed for each annual competition.
5. The essay must be the sole creation and original work of that person. No previously published work will be accepted. Any form of plagiarism will result in immediate disqualification. All essays submitted will be closely checked for plagiarism. Entrants are expected already to be aware of any plagiarism guidance and policies of the academic and professional training institutions to which they currently belong or have belonged.
6. The judges' decisions on any awarding of any prize in the competition will be final and is not subject to any appeal. Essays will be judged on the quality of legal analysis, and not on judges' views as to the merits of the wider issue.
7. Any essay submitted should conform to the following rules as to content, length and style:
  - a. The essay should begin with a cover page stipulating the author's full name, address, contact details (including email address) and details of student, trainee solicitor or pupil barrister status including the name of the relevant organisation. No essay should thereafter contain the author's name in either header or footer text within the essay.
  - b. The essay must be of no more than 1,500 words (including footnotes).
  - c. The essay should be typed with double line spacing and contain page numbers.
  - d. The essay should use the OSCOLA referencing system. Any cases or statutes referred to in any essay should be fully cited the first time that they are used.
8. First prize is £1,000 and a six-week legal internship at the Financial Conduct Authority. Second prize is £500. Third prize is £250.
FSLA reserves the right to substitute any prize for another within their absolute discretion without notice.
FSLA reserves the right to withhold the award of any or all prizes offered if in their absolute discretion if no essay entered warrants the award of any or all prize(s).
Taking up of the legal internship will be subject to FCA approval, which may require provision of personal information to the FCA, agreement to undergo security checks and confirmation that the individual has taken unpaid leave if the prize-winner is in current employment on the dates selected for the internship.
If the first prize-winner is unable or chooses not to take up the legal internship there will be no substitute for this prize and it may, at FSLA's discretion, be offered to the other prize-winners in turn.

9. Prize-winners are entitled to refer to the achievement on their CV.
10. FSLA reserves the right to publish or reproduce any or all of any essay entered for the competition. In reproducing any essay FSLA reserves the right to omit, alter, paraphrase or delete any part of that essay in their absolute discretion for any reason.
11. The decision of the FSLA Executive Committee on the interpretation of these rules will be final.